

Elizabeth Leseur
Spirituality Workshop
with
Fr. Terry Ryan, CSP

At her funeral, in 1914, the clergy said, “Who was this woman? We have never seen such a funeral before.” Apparently, her husband, Felix, did not know of her spiritual depth until he discovered her secret diary. He was so moved by what he read after her death he went from a person who belittled faith, to one who became a priest! Who was this lay woman, who died of cancer at age 48, so little known to the larger world, and yet so beloved by so many people who did meet her in their daily life? She said, “Socialism promises to transform the future. Christianity promises to transform the present.” It was in her present daily life that included her sufferings and disappointments that she learned to love and be the best God called her to be.
