

Demons in the Desert: A Contemplative Lenten Sojourn

The season of Lent marks a communal call for Christians to follow Christ into the interior desert where we must confront our demons through the practice of prayer and asceticism. This is an ancient Christian vocation, rooted in the gospel accounts of Christ's forty days in the desert and exemplified by the lives and sayings of the desert Mothers and Fathers. What might contemplative Christians today learn from the Master Christ and those who first dared to enter the desert wilderness with him?
